Why in News?

Recently, the US administration has announced its long-awaited Indo-Pacific strategy. The document focuses on building collective capacity to deal with challenges in the region.

- These include a focus on challenges from China, advancing the US relationship, a 'Major Defense Partnership' with India and supporting its role as a net security provider in the region.
- There is an emphasis on working with other countries not just from the region, but also from beyond.
- Earlier, the European Union had announced that it will reinforce its strategic focus, presence and actions in the Indo-Pacific with the aim of contributing to the stability, security, prosperity and sustainable development of the region.

What are the Key Points of US' Indo-Pacific strategy?

Vision of Indo-Pacific: The US will seek an Indo-Pacific that is free and open, connected, prosperous, secure and resilient.

- Free: One of the strategic actions outlined is investing in civil society, a free press and democratic institutions.
- Connections: Within and beyond the region.
 - The US says it will work "in flexible groupings" to tackle major issues, "particularly through the QUAD."
 - It will also deepen its (five) regional treaty alliances and work with groups such as ASEAN, the European Union (EU) and NATO.
 - AUKUS, a security alliance between Australia, the UK and the US has also been recently launched.
- Prosperity: To advance its prosperity goal for the region, the US' strategy includes seeking higher labour and environmental standards, helping to establish secure supply chains and investing in clean energy.
- Security: The US has announced that "Integrated deterrence" will form the "cornerstone" of the US' security plan for the region.
 - It will drive initiatives that reinforce deterrence and counter coercion, such as opposing efforts to alter territorial boundaries or undermine the rights of sovereign nations at sea.
- Resilience: The Indo-Pacific faces major transnational challenges.
 - Climate change is growing ever-more severe as South Asia's glaciers melt and the Pacific Islands battle existential rises in sea levels.
 - Further, the Indo-Pacific governments grapple with natural disasters, resource scarcity, internal conflict, and governance challenges.
 - In this context, US envisages to build regional resilience to 21st century transnational threats, including by:
 - Working with allies and partners to develop 2030 and 2050 targets, strategies, plans, and policies consistent with limiting global temperature increase to 1.5 degrees Celsius.
 - Reducing regional vulnerability to the impacts of climate change and environmental degradation.
- Role of India: India's role in the QUAD is an important element of the US-India relationship.
 - US will "continue to support India's rise and regional leadership," working with India bilaterally and through groups on a range of issues.
 - It refers to India as a "like-minded partner" and "driving force" in the QUAD.
 - China's action along the Line of Actual Control (i.e., its border conflict with India) has had a "galvanizing impact" on India and US alignment.
 - Collaborate in new domains, such as health, space, and cyberspace, deepen economic and technology cooperation, and contribute to a free and open Indo-Pacific.
- China's Assertiveness: US allies and partners in the region bear much of the effect of China's assertive policies.
 - The economic coercion of Australia.
 - The conflict along the Line of Actual Control with India.
 - The growing pressure on Taiwan.
 - Bullying of Japan, ASEAN countries in the East and South China Seas.
