 - Tariffs, non-tariff barriers, and lack of export support infrastructure hinder the global expansion of MSMEs.
 - Regulatory compliance: Complex regulations and frequent policy changes create difficulties for MSMEs.
 - Frequent changes in tax laws (like changes in GST slabs) and regulations create uncertainty and increase the compliance burden for MSMEs.
 - Infrastructure constraints: Inadequate infrastructure, including unreliable power supply and poor transportation facilities, hampers the productivity and growth of MSMEs.
 - The infrastructure deficits lead to higher operational costs for MSMEs compared to larger enterprises.
 - Although the government plans to develop industrial parks, many MSMEs still operate without access to well-established industrial zones.

- Delayed payments: Late payments from larger companies and government entities strain MSME finances.
 - As per an estimate, the value of delayed payments from buyers to MSMEs is Rs 10.7 lakh crore annually.
