Why in News?

As the United Nations (UN) approaches its 80th anniversary in 2025, the G4 countries (India, Brazil, Germany, and Japan) have reiterated their calls for urgent reforms of the UN Security Council (UNSC)

This was supported by other plurilateral groupings such as the L69 and C-10.

Also, India addressed the 79th UNGA summit, sharing its perspectives and recommendations on global development and reforms.

What are G4, L69 and C-10 Groups?

- L69 Group:
 - The L69 Group consists of 42 developing nations, including India, from Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Caribbean, and the Pacific.
 - It advocates for expanding both permanent and non-permanent UNSC membership to reflect current global realities and enhance accountability and representation.
 - The Group advocates for a review of the permanent membership composition every 15 years to ensure it reflects evolving global realities.
 - The group is named after the "L.69" draft document introduced in 2007-08, which initiated the Intergovernmental Negotiation (IGN) process.
- C-10 Grouping:
 - The Committee of Ten (C-10) Heads of State and Government of the African Union consists of 10 African nations.
 - It aims to reform the UNSC by advocating for improved representation of Africa and promoting the Common African Position, which is based on the Ezulwini Consensus and the Sirte Declaration.
 - The Ezulwini Consensus, agreed by the African Union in 2005, seeks to reform the UNSC by providing Africa with 2 permanent seats with veto power and 5 non-permanent seats, aiming for enhanced representation and democracy.
 - The Sirte Declaration (1999) was the resolution adopted to establish the African Union and address peace and security issues across the African continent.
- G-4 Grouping:
 - The G4 is a grouping of Brazil, Germany, India and Japan which are aspiring to become permanent members of the UNSC.

- It was created in 2004 and has been promoting UN Security Council Reforms.
- The G4 countries are backing each other's efforts for permanent UNSC membership and typically hold meetings during the annual high-level UN General Assembly (UNGA) session.

Intergovernmental Negotiations (IGN)

- IGN is a group of nation-states working (informally) within the UN to further reform of the United Nations Security Council (UNSC)

Procedure for UN Security Council Reforms

- Reforming the UN Security Council requires amending the United Nations Charter, following a 2-stage process outlined in Article 108.
- First Stage: The General Assembly must approve the reform with a two-thirds majority, or at least 128 out of 193 member states. This stage does not permit a veto, as per Article 27.
- Second Stage: After the first stage approval, the UN Charter is treated as an international treaty and is amended.
 - The amended Charter needs to be ratified by at least two-thirds of the member states, including all P5 members, following their national procedures.
 - During this stage, the ratification can be influenced by the Parliaments of the P5 members, which may impact when the amended Charter takes effect.
