- Reforming Multilateral Platforms: India has actively championed the reform of global multilateral platforms, including the United Nations and financial institutions like the IMF and World Bank.
  - During its presidency, India called for greater inclusivity, pushing for the representation of developing nations in decision-making processes.
  - The adoption of the G20 Roadmap for Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs) in 2023 was a key outcome influenced by India's leadership.
- Supporting the Global South: India has emerged as a strong advocate for the Global South, amplifying its voice on critical issues such as sustainable development, climate finance, and equitable vaccine distribution.

- Through initiatives like the Voice of Global South Summit, India has ensured that the needs and priorities of developing nations remain central to the G20 agenda.
- India's expertise in innovation and technology has been shared with developing nations to advance collaborative solutions in healthcare, education, and energy.
- Bilateral Talks and Strategic Partnerships: On the sidelines of the 2024 G20 Summit in Brazil, India held significant bilateral discussions with countries like Australia, Norway, Indonesia, Portugal, Italy, the UK, and France.
  - These talks underscored India's role in fostering strategic partnerships to address shared challenges and explore trade and investment opportunities.
  - For instance, India-UK Free Trade Agreement \(FTA\) and extradition issues were discussed between India and UK, strengthening economic and judicial cooperation.

What are the Major Challenges Faced by the G20 Grouping?

- Global Hunger, Fuel, and Fertilizer Crisis: The G20 faces the challenge of addressing the intertwined global crises of global hunger, food insecurity, and rising fuel and fertilizer prices.
  - Ongoing geopolitical conflicts, particularly the Russia-Ukraine war, have exacerbated food and fertilizer shortages, impacting developing nations.
  - There is a significant gap in fulfilling commitments to food security and addressing the needs of vulnerable populations in the Global South.
- Geopolitical Rivalries Among Key Members: Political tensions, such as those between the United States and China or various geopolitical conflicts involving Russia and Israel, create significant barriers to consensus-building.
  - The Russia-Ukraine war has sparked divisions within the G20, with conflicting views on sanctions and neutrality, highlighted by the recent U.S. decision to allow Ukraine to use long-range weapons inside Russia.
  - These disputes frequently overshadow core global issues, shifting focus away from collaborative problem-solving.
- Divergent Economic and Political Priorities: The G20 encompasses a wide range of economies, from highly developed nations like the United States and Germany to developing ones like India and Brazil.
  - Developed countries prioritize advanced technology, climate transitions, and geopolitical stability, while developing nations emphasize poverty alleviation, access to resources, and economic growth.
  - These conflicting priorities often lead to disagreements on global issues such as climate financing, trade liberalization, and equitable resource allocation.
- Weak Enforcement Mechanisms: The G20, as an informal forum, produces ambitious plans and agreements, but its lack of a legally binding structure often results in a disconnect between commitments and execution, relying on voluntary pledges from member states.
  - Agreements, such as those on climate finance or debt restructuring, often remain unimplemented due to the lack of accountability frameworks.
- Inadequate Representation of Global South: While the G20 includes emerging economies like India, South Africa, and Brazil, smaller and less-developed nations are not directly represented.
  - Although initiatives like including the African Union as a member aim to address this gap, decision-making is still dominated by larger economies, limiting the influence of the Global South.
  - This imbalance leads to criticisms that the G20 does not adequately prioritize the concerns of poorer nations, such as debt relief and equitable development.

Way Forward

- Addressing Global Hunger, Fuel, and Fertilizer Crisis: G20 nations must enhance collaboration with international organizations to ensure a united response to food, fuel, and fertilizer shortages, particularly in developing regions.
  - For instance, the Global Hunger and Poverty Alliance and the Millet Initiative serve as key examples of G20 efforts aimed at addressing food insecurity and promoting sustainable agriculture to combat global hunger and poverty.

- The G20 should invest in long-term solutions, such as sustainable farming and alternative fertilizers, to reduce global dependence on unstable supply chains.
- Inclusive Dialogues: The G20 should prioritize inclusive dialogues focusing on shared global goals, balancing climate action and economic growth.
  - Clear frameworks for climate finance and trade should be developed to address diverse economic needs.
- Diplomatic Engagement: The G20 should encourage diplomatic engagement and multilateral dialogue, focusing on conflict resolution.
  - Creating specialized working groups could help build consensus on issues like the Russia-Ukraine conflict and Middle East tensions.
- Strengthening Enforcement Mechanisms: The G20 must strengthen accountability frameworks, using monitoring bodies and independent assessments to ensure climate finance and debt relief pledges are implemented.
  - Partnerships with multilateral institutions can aid in improving enforcement.
- Enhancing Representation of Global South: The G20 should broaden membership to include more Global South nations, ensuring greater representation in decision-making.
  - Special advisory roles for underrepresented nations could improve input on debt relief and climate justice.
