

Rhododendron

Rhododendron is a large genus of woody plants comprising approximately 1,000 species. These plants are characterised by their showy flowers that come in various colours such as white, pink, red, orange, and purple.

- A total of 87 species, 12 subspecies and 8 varieties of Rhododendrons recorded in the Indian Himalayan Region.
- Rhododendron arboreum is the state flower of Nagaland. The traditional belief in the state is that consuming rhododendron petals can help remove fish bones stuck in one's throat.
  - However, rampant deforestation, habitat destruction, and threats from pests have rendered many species vulnerable.

Read more...