Why in News?

Recently, the National Human Rights Commission \(NHRC\) issued a notice to the Odisha government, requiring an explanation as to why the Commission should not recommend a payment of monetary compensation to the next of kin of a person, who allegedly died in police custody.

What is Custodial Death?

- Custodial death refers to a death that occurs while a person is in the custody of law enforcement officials or a correctional facility. It can occur due to various causes such as the use of excessive force, neglect, or abuse by the authorities.
- According to the Law Commission of India, the violence committed by a public servant against the arrested or the detained person who is in custody amounts to custodial violence.

- IPC Sec 302, 304, 304A, and 306 - Include crime of custodial torture
 - Sec 330, 331 - Punishment for injury inflicted for extorting confession

Complaints of such human rights violations are received by the NHRC under Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993

MAJOR ISSUES REGARDING CDs

- No anti-torture legislation
- Opaque, poor prison system
- Excessive force used against marginalised/protesters
- Lengthy, expensive judicial processes

India signed the UN Convention against Torture (1985) in 1997 but hasn't ratified it yet

CD V/S FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS

- Protection from torture (Article 21)
- Protection against arrest and detention in certain cases, Right to Counsel (Article 22)

SOLUTIONS

- Multi-pronged strategy encompassing legal enactments, technology, accountability, training and community relations
- Taking stringent action against personnel breaching the commandments issued by the SC in D.K. Basu v. State of West Bengal (1997) (such as - All police personnel to wear name tags clearly indicating their name, designation)

Judicial Pronouncements on Custodial Death:

- Kishore Singh Vs. State of Rajasthan (1981): The Supreme Court held that the use of third degree by the police is violative of Article 21 of the Constitution of India.
- Nilabati Behera vs. State of Orissa (1993): The Supreme Court held that the state is liable to pay compensation for custodial deaths resulting from police negligence or brutality, recognizing the state's responsibility for protecting the right to life.
- Joginder Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh (1994): The Supreme Court dealt with violation of human rights because of indiscriminate arrests. They referred to the recommendations made in the Third Report of the National Police Commission that police should avoid arrest provided only in heinous offence.

- D.K. Basu vs. State of West Bengal (1997): The Supreme Court laid down specific guidelines to prevent custodial torture and deaths, including requirements for arrest memos, the right to medical examination, and access to legal counsel.

Note:

▪ Custodial Death Guidelines Laid Down in DK Basu Case:

- It is the duty of the Police Officer not to use third-degree methods while having investigation and interrogation from the accused.
- Attention must be required in checking the working environment, training, and orientation of the Police Officials with the basic human values.
- The legislature must adopt the recommendations suggested by the Law Commission Report by inserting Section 114-B.
- A balanced approach should be used by the police to extract the information from hardened criminals.
- There must be a memo made by the Police Officer in charge at the time of arrest and at least one family member of the accused must be present when the arrest is made.
- The requirements under the Constitution under Article 21 and 22 (1) of Constitution of India must be followed by Police Officers.
- Awareness must be created to the arrestee so that he can understand his basic rights at the time of the arrest.
- Also, the Court has given certain preventive measures that must be followed by the Police Officer in charge at the time of the arrest of an accused.

▪ Section 114-B: It was recommended in the 113th Report of Law Commission (however, not yet included). It says that in a prosecution of a police officer for causing bodily injury to a person in custody, the court may presume the injury was caused by the officer if evidence shows the injury occurred during custody. In deciding this, the court will consider:

- (a) The period of custody,
- (b) Any admissible statement by the victim about the injury,
- (c) Medical evidence,
- (d) Evidence from any magistrate who recorded or attempted to record the victim's statement.

What are the Ethical Concerns Associated with Custodial Deaths?

▪ Violates Human Rights and Dignity:

- Every person possesses inherent dignity and deserves to be treated with respect and fairness. Custodial violence violates this fundamental principle by inflicting physical and psychological harm, stripping individuals of their dignity, and denying them basic human rights.

▪ Undermines Rule of Law:

- It undermines the core principles of the rule of law and due process. Law enforcement officers are tasked with upholding and enforcing the law, yet engaging in violence directly contradicts the fundamental principles of justice, equality, and the safeguarding of human rights.

▪ Presumption of Guilt:

- It undermines the foundational principle of "innocent until proven guilty". Subjecting individuals to torture before they have been convicted of a crime violates their fundamental rights to a fair trial and due process.

▪ Opposing Professionalism and Integrity:

- Police officers and authorities are expected to maintain high ethical standards, which include professionalism, integrity, and a commitment to respecting human rights. Custodial violence breaches these ethical principles and stains the reputation of the profession overall.

What Measures can be Taken to Prevent Custodial Torture?

▪ Strengthening Legal Systems:

- Strengthen laws against torture and ensure that they are strictly enforced.
- Ensuring prompt and impartial investigations into allegations of custodial torture.
- Holding perpetrators accountable through fair and expeditious trials.

▪ Police Reforms and Sensitisation:

- Improving police training programs to uphold human rights and dignity. Oversight mechanisms to effectively monitor and address cases of custodial torture.
- Promoting a culture of accountability, professionalism, and empathy within law enforcement agencies.
 - For example, in the Prakash Singh Case 2006, the Supreme Court issued seven directives to drive police reforms in India, acknowledging widespread issues such as politicization, lack of accountability, and systemic weaknesses impacting overall police performance.

▪ Empowering Civil Society and Human Rights Organisations:

- Promoting active advocacy by civil society organizations for victims of custodial torture.
- The National Human Rights Commission \(NHRC\) should be allowed to inquire into any matter even after one year from the date of the alleged human rights violation.
- Providing support and legal aid to victims and their families.
- Collaborating with international human rights bodies and organisations to seek redress and justice.
