Why in News?

Recently, Andhra Pradesh marked the 10th anniversary of its bifurcation into two states, Andhra Pradesh and Telangana.

- This significant political shift offers a compelling opportunity to explore its wide-ranging implications on the political, economic, and historical landscape of the Telugu people.

How Andhra Pradesh has been Divided on Linguistic Basis?

- Background:
 - At the Nagpur session of the Indian National Congress in December 1920, it was decided to reorganize the Provincial Congress Committees on a linguistic basis.
 - This move was aimed at promoting the interests of various linguistic groups. This leads to demand for linguistic state.
 - The roots of the agitation can be traced back to the linguistic reorganization movements that gained momentum in post-independence India.
 - The demand for a separate state for Telugu-speaking individuals was driven by a desire to preserve and promote their linguistic and cultural identity.
- Agitation for Linguistic State:
 - One of the most pivotal figures in this movement was Potti Sreeramulu, a Gandhian and social activist.
 - He undertook a hunger strike on 19th October, 1952, demanding the creation of a separate state of Andhra Pradesh for Telugu speaking people.
 - His martyrdom after 56 days of fasting, intensified the agitation and forced the Indian government to reconsider their stance on linguistic reorganisation.
- Commission for Linguistic Reorganisation of States: The Central Government of India established several commissions from time to time to examine and give recommendations regarding the reorganization of state on linguistic basis. Few related commissions are:
 - Dar Commission (1948):
 - Purpose: To examine the feasibility of reorganization of states on linguistic lines.
 - Outcome: The Dar Commission, headed by S.K. Dar, did not support the idea of reorganisation solely based on language. It emphasized administrative efficiency over linguistic homogeneity.

- JVP Committee (1948-1949):
 - Members: Jawaharlal Nehru, Vallabhbhai Patel, and Pattabhi Sitaramayya.
 - Purpose: To reassess the demands for linguistic states after the recommendations of the Dar Commission.
 - Outcome: The JVP Committee also recommended against the reorganization of states purely on linguistic lines, suggesting that such reorganisation could lead to administrative difficulties and national disintegration.
- Fazal Ali Commission (States Reorganisation Commission) (1953-1955):
 - Members: Fazal Ali (Chairman), K.M. Panikkar, and H.N. Kunzru.
 - Purpose: To examine the entire question of the reorganisation of states on linguistic and other bases.
 - Outcome: It recommended the creation of linguistic states but with certain reservations to ensure national integration and administrative convenience. Its recommendations led to the formation of several states based on linguistic lines.
- States Reorganisation Act (1956):
 - It was based on the recommendations of the Fazal Ali Commission.
 - The act led to the reorganization of state boundaries across India, significantly altering the political map of the country.
 - The States Reorganisation Act, 1956 merged the Telugu-speaking areas of Hyderabad state with the Andhra state to create the enlarged Andhra Pradesh.
- The Formation of Andhra State:
 - The death of Potti Sreeramulu led to violent protests and a significant public outcry and following the recommendations of several committees the Indian government, decided to form a separate state on linguistic basis.
 - The first linguistic state of India, known as the state of Andhra, by taking out the Telugu speaking areas from the State of Madras was created.
- On 2nd June, 2014 the northwestern part of Andhra Pradesh was separated and 29th state Telangana was created through the Andhra Pradesh Reorganisation Act, 2014.
- The issue of granting Special Category Status \(SCS\) to Andhra Pradesh has been a significant and contentious topic since the bifurcation of the state in 2014.

What is Special Category Status (SCS)?

- About:
 - SCS is a classification granted to some States by the Centre to assist development, based on geographical and socio-economic disadvantages.
 - The scheme was introduced in 1969 on the recommendation of the Fifth Finance Commission.
- Factors considered for granting SCS to a State:
 - Hilly and difficult terrain
 - Low population density and/or sizeable share of tribal population
 - Strategic location along international borders
 - Economic and infrastructural backwardness
 - Non-viable nature of State finances
- The 14th Finance Commission has done away with the 'special category status' for states, except for the Northeastern and three hill states.
- States with Special Status: Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Himachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Sikkim, Tripura, and Uttarakhand .

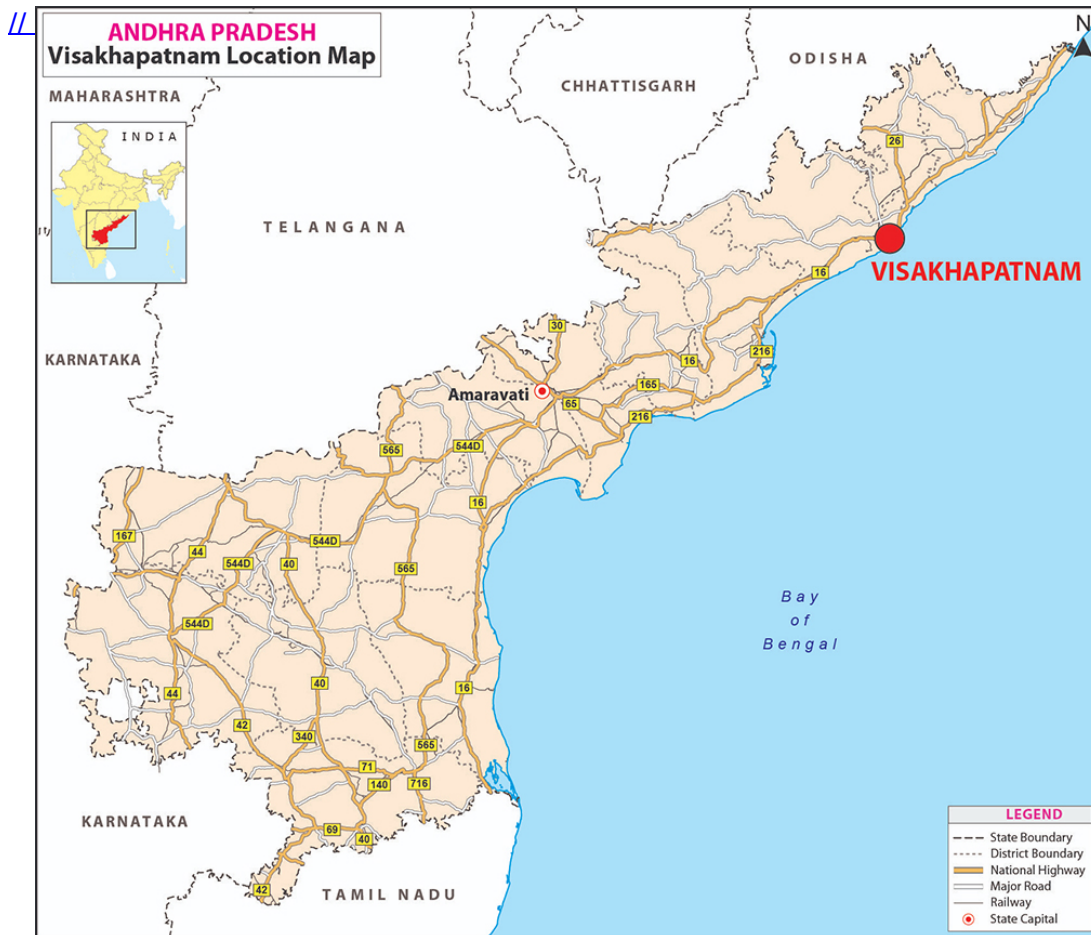

What are the Constitutional Provision for Formation of New State?

- Article 2:
 - Parliament may by law admit into the Union, or establish, new States on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit.
- Article 3:
 - Formation of new States and alteration of areas, boundaries or names of existing States:
 - Form a new State by separation of territory from any State or by uniting two or more States or parts of States or by uniting any territory to a part of any State

- Increase the area of any State
- Diminish the area of any State
- Alter the boundaries of any State
- Alter the name of any State

What are the Important Fact about State of Andhra Pradesh?
